At 10:30 o'clock last night Dr. F. W Boatwright pronounced at an end the most prosperous and successful session Richmond College has probably ever en-

A brilliant audience filled the spacious chapel. Many men whose names are known and horbred throughout the State accompanied by their wives and daughters, were present, while distinguished citizens and trustees occupied seats on the platform with Dr. Boatwright and Dr.

The exercises throughout were attractive and all spoke in praise of the admi-rable address of Dr. Lyman Hall, of the Georgia School of Technology, located Georgia School of Technology, located at Atlanta.

President Boatwright presented Dr. Hall, after brief opening exercises, con-sisting of music by the orchestra and prayer. Dr. Boatwright spoke in highest prayer. Dr. Boatwright spoke in highest terms of praise of the work President Hall was doing for the instruction of young men in the applied sciences, and won for the visitor the friendship and admiration of the entire audience. The address of Dr. Hall was instructive, charmingly delivered and dealt with a theme which is interesting the public more at present than probably any other which deals with the education of the youth. He showed convincingly to the doubting Thomases, if there were any, the "value of technical training." It was easy to see that Dr. Hall was full of his subject and acquainted with it through and through. He spoke like a man who was himself convinced.

Medals Were Awarded.

Gordon B. Moore, late of Furman ersity, was requested by Dr. Boat-it to deliver the "James D. Crump" (Mathematics) and the "Tanner" grees of Master of Arts, Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Laws was printed yesterday morning. The young gentlemen and the three young laddes occupied seats on the platform, and as each received his "sheepskin" at the hands of President Backwright, the audience cordially applauded. Dr. Boatwright delivered a brief but timely and cloquent charge to the class of 1903 before sending them out in the wald to win other honors for themselves and their alma mater.

Honorary Degrees.

Dr. tcher, president of the Board of Tr. ees, made announcements for that body, calling out the distinguished gentlemen on whom the college had conferred its honors. Those elected to the Board of Trustees were Dr. C. S. Gardner, Richmond; Rev. George Braxton Taylor, Hollins; Dr. L. Lankford, of Norfolk, and Mr. Archer W. Patterson, of Richmond. Those receiving honorary degrees were President S. P. Brooks, of Baylor University, LL. D.; Rev. L. J. Haley, Louisa; Rev. E. V. Baldy, Manchester; Rev. B. C. Hening, Bristol, and E. E. Ayres, Georgetown, Ky.

This was the closing feature of the exercises. Dr. Boatwright thanked the audience for the ofttimes manifested interest in the college, and declared the session closed,

THE ARMY IS SUPREME

King Peter Will Be Little More Than a Royal Captive.

THE REPUBLICAN OPINION

The Ablest Exponent of it Told that Unless He Agreed to Support the New King There Would Be One Head Less.

King Peter I, promises to be little more thar that of a royal captive; the recl government of the country will be a mill tary dictatorship under the leadership of Colonel Mischich. The new King is almost without any personal adherents, and the ruling spirits of the army, it is thought probable, would just as readly murder him as they did his predecessor should he oppose their aims.

At the present moment the whole coun try is under military rule, and although no prefects in the country districts have been revoked an army officer attends each prefect wherever he goes, even to the telephone. This policy has led to one good result, not a single case of disorder anywhere has been reported.

Extremely forcible arguments were found necessity to suppress the radical aspirations of a republic. The foremost advocate of the creation of a republican form of government was Lijubomir Schiokovics, the editor of the Belgrade Odjek. Finding him impervious to arguments the conspirators invited him to a dinner at the officers' club last Saturday. During the dinner high host told him that During the dinner his host told him that unless he agreed to support Prince Peter Karageorgovitch there would be one head less in Beigrade that night. M. Schlokovics yielded to the force of this reasoning and accepted the situation. He is now minister of justice in the new government.

The deliberations of the members of the Senate and Skuptschina on the republican question were materially hastened by the attendance of one of the leaders of the revolution, Colonel Mischich. The Colonel took no part in the proceedings, but his presence was significant enough to Induce the members of the army's choice.

PEOPLE ARE PASSIVE.

enough to Induce the members of the army's choics.

PEOPLE ARE PASSIVE.

Inquiries in official circles everywhere elicit the assurance that the people are delighted with the action of the government, but conversations overheard in public places indicate that the people, especially those living outside the capital know little and care little about the trend of national politics. One of the features in all the shop windows now is the display of large pictures of King Peter, freshly painted, the cuts having been brought from abroad. Two peasants were heard discussing one of these prints to-day. The first asked who it was:

"The new King, Karageorgovitch," replied the second.

"Why did they kill the last King?"
"I don't know. I think he had so

One of the highest officials of the present government asked a number of foreign journalists what Europe thought of the way in which the Servian revolution was carried out. He was told bluntly that it was considered a brutal act. He thereupon explained that, from his point of view, the assassination of the King and Queen was an act of mercy, as by utterly destroying the dynasty instead of deporting the sovereigns, the likelihood of a civil war was precluded.

THEY WILL ASK FOR $25,000.00

Through its Advisory Board, which is composed of a number of the best known citizens of the city, the Woman's League Training School and Hospital of Richmond, will make a formal appeal to the promoters of the Odgen mocement for education for $2,000 for the endowment of the institution and the payment of a five thousand dollar debt. The appeal is now being prepared by the secretary of the board.

The closing exercises of the school will be held this afternoon and night at its home. No. 44 North Third Street. During the day samples of the work done by the students will be exhibited. Lunch will be served from 3 to 6.

The commencement exercises will be held at $2.30 o'clock to-morrow night at the Ebenezer Baptist Church. There will be graduates in trained nursing, dress making, cooking, and domestic science. The address for the occasion will be delivered by the Rev. Dr. E. N. Calisch of Beth Alaba Synagogue. Quite a number of the Board of Visitors are expected to be present.

At the Theatres.

To those who like the melodrama that "The Silver King," presented at the Acad touch the hearts of theatre-goers, and whenever the public is again given an opportunity to witness it, they must readily avail themselves of the chance. Of course, on construction, the play has all the marks of the period that gave it birth.

There are five acts and eleven scenes. It was quarter past eiven o'clock last night when the curtain was rung down on the final act. However, the waits were not very long, the lengthy performance being the fault of the plece itself, though naturally, as is always the case, the action will quicken after the first night, so that for the remainder of the week the audience will be able to get away by 11 o'clock, or thereabouts.

Mr. Greenleaf, for the second time, has overshadowed the star part. He accomplished this in "Under the Red Robe," by the cleverness and smoothness of his work, he has done the same thing in "The Sliver King." His is not a part to appeal to the audience, but in spite of this, by the splendid manner in which he plays the role, he commands a certain admiration for a character that is about as lacking in any human quality as can well be imagined.

Mr. George Howard, as Wifred Denver, is too light for the part. He is not quite equal to it, though he managed to get along fairly well with it. Mr. Woodburn and Mr. H. D. James were both good in character parts, as was also Mr. Duane. Mr. Edwin Evins Save a good impersonation of Geoffrey Ware. Mr. Evans, who is a Richmond boy, has shown considerable talent in his professional appearances here, and he certainly gives promise of even better work when he has had a little more experience and is given the opportunity. Mr. "B. O. Albert," another Richmond boy, also did well last night in a character bit. Mr. Charles Lane had small opportunity, and Mr. Keyell struggled manfully with a part that offered little.

Miss Grayce Scott was entirely satisfactory as Kellie Denver, and Master George Ryall added another feather to his cap in his personation of Cissie Denver.

It was built for laughing purposes in the first instance, but the Biou Comedy Company has crowded more incident into it until it is now the joiliest entertainment that anyone could imagine. It was intended as a summar park attraction, but it might run to packed houses in the height of the season and challenge comparison with any of the road shows that come along and play to three times the prices.

There is no overweening display on the part of anyone, but all the principals have a "look in" and there is no sense of disappointment fro start to finish.

of disappointment fro start to finish.

Little Chip scores as heavily in this piece as in anything the Rijou Company has yet done. He is a delightful comedian and among the ingredients in his prescription for success are individually, originality, bump of music, natural voice, art of make-up, dramatic instinct, clean methods, terpsichorean grace, self-repression, ability to shine without the aid of a calcium light—and there you are.

The usual performances will be given throughout this week, and next week the company will play a farewell engagement appearing in the greatest success of its Southern tour, "The House That Jack Built."

Waters Came Round the Bend With Frightful Roar, Bearing Houses on its Crest-Operator Lost Life at Key.

(By Associated Press.),
PENDLETON, ORE., June 16.—Three men who survived the flood at Heppner—R. H. Ball, J. J. Kelley and A. P. Bradbury—have arrived here, after having witnessed the destruction of the town and assisted in the work of rescue. Mr.
Kelley said:

and assisted in the work of rescue. Mr. Kelley said:

"The rain was not falling in Heppner, but could be seen some distance away. Sharp fashes of lightning were accompanied by the howling thunder. Then, suddenly, the thunder died away and a low noise was heard, very faint at first, but growing louder. The city is situated on Willow Creek, which makes a sharp turn above the city. As the noise grew louder and louder, the people became frantic. Then, in a moment the van of the flood burst Into view around the curve of the creek, carrying on its van of the flood burst into view around the curve of the creek, carrying on its crest the cabins and houses which stood in its path. The people made a rush to the hills, but were too late. The flood was upon them. The little river in five was upon them. The little river in five minutes was transformed into a roar-ing torrent 400 feet wide and 20 feet deep. People were caught in their homes and forced to crawl out on the roof. Then, as the house moved down the stream, they caught on to the trees and hung there until morning, when they were rescued.

Were rescued.

The names of 189 perpons whose bodies have been recovered, or who are missing and believed to be dead as a result of the Heppner flood, have been obtained. In addition, the bodies of seven Chinese, three Japanese and twenty-one strangers and babies, names unknown, go to swell the list.

Ellas Conner, a stock raiser, of Ione, returned from Heppner at 2 o'clock this morning. He left the scene of the disaster at 6 o'clock last night.

"It is known," said Mr. Conner, "that at least 275 or 509 people were drowned; 115 corpses have been hastily buried in wooden boxes and some were merely wrapped in blankets. There were still several wagon loads of dead bodies on their way to the cemetery when I left. Heppner itself has now been pretty well searched, except in piles of debris, where it is thought great numbers of bodies will be found.

"Between Jone and Heppner," said Mr. Conner, "there are great piles of debris, but the flood passed so quickly that the roads have not been seriously damaged. It looks strange to see the heavy steel rails bent and twisted like corkscrews and the heavy timbers splintered like male hong, and two blocks wide through the town, following generally the course of Willow Creek."

A telephone message from Ione states that the latest find in the ruins of Heppner indicates that the loss of life will be much greater than at first supposed. The casualty list will foot up 500, and many of the bodies will never be recovered. The property loss and destruction of buildings alone will aggregate probably a million dollars. This is regarded as a conservative estimate. One hundred and fifty of the best residences were swept from the earth. The debris is piled along the railroad track to the height of freight cars. The relief work is progressing at a satisfactory pace.

James Kernan, the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company agent, met his death at the telegraph key, trying to call Portland to Inform the outside world of the impending calamity.
